My Reading History

What is 'My Reading History'?

This is a list of all the resources that you have borrowed from the Export Library & Information Service. It is only accessible by you because it is password protected. Because ELIS is staffed by a registered information professional of the Library & Information Association of New Zealand Aotearoa (LIANZA), and because the New Zealand School of Export supports the ethical stance taken by LIANZA, you are also protected by the Confidentiality of Library Records statement adopted by the Council of the New Zealand Library Association, November 15, 1984 – see:

<http://www.lianza.org.nz/about/governance/statements/confidentiality.html>

How could it be useful?

We often forget where we have read about a useful or challenging idea, or, we forget the names of books we have read. 'My Reading History' can jog your memory – it is a kind of reading diary!

Also, if you are writing an assignment as part of your Diploma studies and haven't kept a record of the titles of resources used, you can find them by using 'My Reading History'.

Can I Place a Hold from My Reading History?

Should you want to borrow any one of these resources again, you can click on the title and you will be able to Place a Hold by clicking on that phrase on the right hand side of the description of the resource.

How do I access 'My Reading History' ?

You must first log in using your ID and password. That will give you access to a screen like this:
